Writing

What is going well?

- Writing newspapers reports about Grendal and units of work based on exciting stories or myths.
- Writing biographies. We got to be creative and make up our own futures.
- Writing informally and being creative
- Splitting work up into paragraphs and completing it in sections so we are no overwhelmed.
- Writing non-chronological reports on our own sea creature because we got to be creative.
- Writing twisted fairytales.
- Using my imagination.
- Practising handwriting in handwriting sessions.
- Silly sentence competitions are great! There is no pressure and we get to be creative.
- Using colours in Analyse lessons.

New ideas or actions

- We want to be more independent in writing.
- When we are writing up I would like a bank of my spelling.
- It would be good to have an opportunity to do free writing.
- Story writing competition.

Reading Curriculum Council 2022 -2023

Reading

What is going well:

- Reading whatever we want after lunch and going to the reading corner.
- Comprehension sessions.
- Joining the Sheffield Children's Book Awards and getting to read books we would not usually get to read.
- Being read to in class because we get comfy.
- Reading at home because it is reading for fun.
- In reading lessons, questions where you can give your own opinions and predictions.
- Reading in the library with an adult because it means we might move up a book band. When we move up book bands it gives us a boost and makes us feel more confident.
- Reading buddies.
- Most children know their book bands and we know that they are to be used to help improve our reading.

New ideas or actions:

- A bigger range of books in the library.
- A wider range of books in the higher-level book bands.
- Change book banded books whenever we want.
- We would like an author visit.
- Organise the library by themes.
